TIPS & TECHNIQUES

ON SOLID (AND SAFE) GROUND

Keep a rubber mat by your electric service (main fuse or circuit breaker box). For your own safety, be sure to stand on this mat whenever you operate any controls in the panel. Never reach into a service panel with two hands; keep one hand in your pocket. Touching anything with one hand while the other touches a hot element in the panel may ground you so a circuit runs through your body thus defeating the value of a rubber mat. In addition, it's a good idea to keep a supply of fuses (if applicable) and a flashlight nearby.

CHECK YOUR STAT!

If you feel that a room is actually hotter than the thermostat is set for, unscrew the thermostat and check the hole in the wall where the wires run through. Often, this hole is big enough to allow cold air from the inside of the wall to get into the thermostat so it doesn't sense the true room temperature. To block the air flow, fill the hole with a dab of putty or caulking compound.
